US-90 a dam, rainwater floods neighborhoods

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans to request that the State Highway Department correct drainage under US-90 in Beat One.

Much of Beat One flooded this week, according to Supervisor Bert Courrege, who maintains that US-90 acts as a levee and interferes with natural drainage.

Residents of two flooded homes, however, say Courrege needs to improve drainage in their subdivisions.

The flooded area includes several subdivisions on the east side of the highway. Among them are BaySide Park, parts of Lakeshore, Bayou Phillips and Springwood Park. Other flooded areas in the county included Silver Creek Acres, the Bayou LaTerre area and parts of Diamondhead.

News Brief

PUBLIC MEETING

Gulf Coast Community Action Agency will conduct a public meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30 in the Hancock County Courthouse Boardroom.

Ms. Lucy Hazet, CAA coordinator for Hancock County, said the meeting is designed as a "needs assessment" session, seeking input from the public on what services can best be provided by her agency.

Programs to be considered include consumer awareness, legal aid, education, energy and housing.

Interested representatives of public and private service agencies are also invited, Hazet said.

Courrege said a Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company gauge indicated that more than seven inches of rain fell on the area Monday during a high tide that backed up into Bayou Phillips.

He said water usually drains into Bayou Phillips because it can not go under US-90.

He said the board had asked for assistance with drainage along the highway once before. On that occasion, the Highway Department placed culverts running lateral to the highway.

Courrege said he does not believe that the existing culverts are large enough or placed in the proper positions for efficient drainage.

He believes that the culverts should run under the highway.

"There are about 1,000 acres that have to drain under there," Courrege commented.

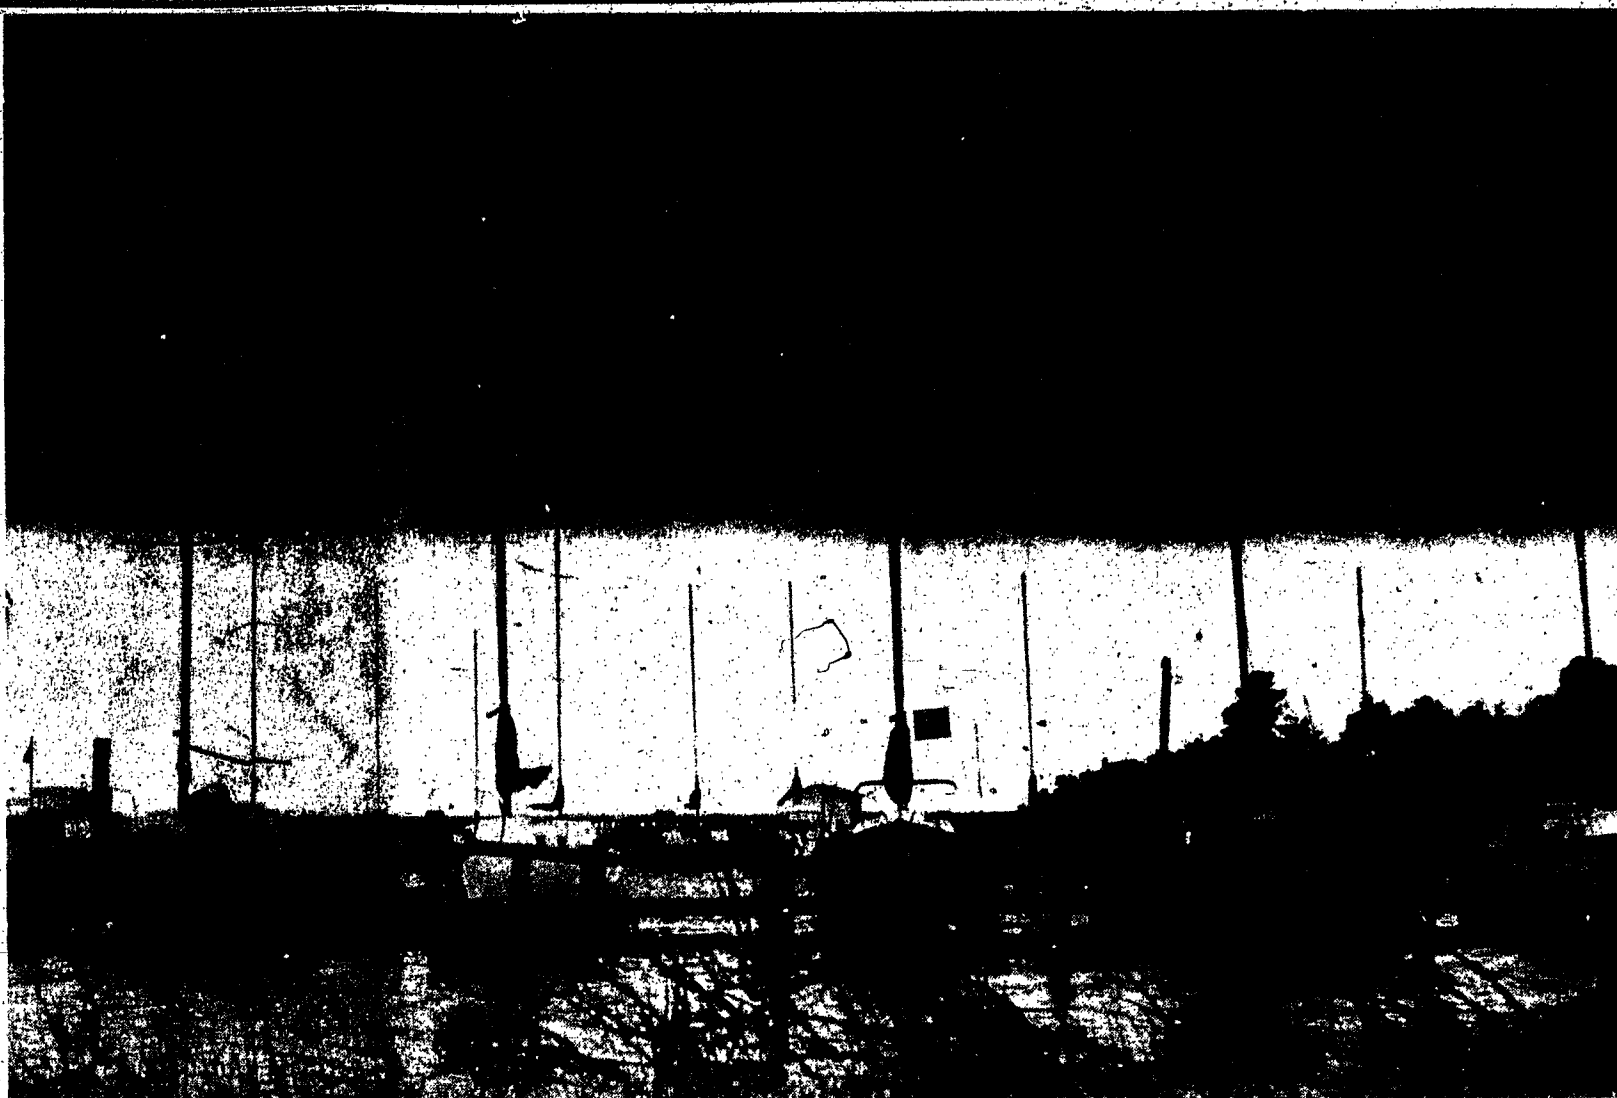

He also said he believes that recent rains have been unusually heavy, presenting new problems.

"I've seen water where I've never seen water before," he commented.

"Water backed up (from BaySide Park) all the way to Lakeshore, even though we just got a dragline out of there last week and had opened Bayou Phillips all the way."

Reene Weaver and her husband Randy Weaver, who live in the lower floor of a BaySide Park home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawson, agreed with Courrege's contention that rains had been unusually heavy but said much of the problem is in

CLOUD COVERAGE—Heavy clouds loom on the horizon behind the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club about 10 a.m. Monday heralding more rain after a deluge earlier the same morning. Unofficial measurements placed the rainfall here Monday from four to seven inches. Hancock County residents in

Long range US-90 renovation project underway, Joiner says

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A replacement bridge over Bayou Phillips on US-90 will not relieve immediate flooding problems of area residents, but is part of a long range plan for highway renovation underway.

Residents of the area south of the highway claim that inadequate drainage culverts as well as the bridge inhibit the flow of water which eventually empties into Bayou La Croix and the Jourdan River.

A contract for replacing the bridge in the eastbound land of the highway west of Waveland was awarded Tuesday, according to Southern Highway District Commissioner Bob Joiner.

New-Cros Inc. of Brandon received the contract with a bid of $462,600.

The bridge is being replaced because of "bad structural condition," a state engineer in the Hattiesburg office said Wednesday.

The contract calls for the bridge to be lengthened 10 feet, but New-Cros spokesman Calvin Davidson said the increase in length is standard when replacing a bridge.

"The additional bridge length will allow for more drainage area but it will not make that much difference," Davidson said.

To really increase the drainage area it would be necessary to raise the bridge, he said.

"To raise the bridge, you would have to raise the entire highway and our contract doesn't call for that," Davidson said.

Fire Tower flooding woes to be brought before board

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors will hear yet another complaint from Fire Tower Road residents Monday. This time the problem concerns drainage.

Shirley Shipman, who bought property along the road in April, plans to attend Monday's board meeting with several other residents of the road and Deborah Johnson, the former resident who sold her the land she lives on.

Shipman said she knows exactly where the water that drains off the road goes. She contends that it all ends up in her yard and around her trailer.

On Monday, the water missed getting into the trailer by about two inches, got up to the doors on her car, set a metal shed in her backyard afloat and sent her dogs and cats running for higher ground.

"This happened in an hour, between 5 and 6 a.m. The water got up to the porch. I was worried about snakes. The children couldn't get over it," she said.

She said she usually gets water in the yard during a heavy rain but added that it has never gotten as high as it did Monday.

"It nearly drowned my little dogs. The shed door was closed and I had to wade out and open it for them."

Shipman said she believes the cause of her drainage problem is a ditch along the south side of her yard.

She said Johnson had told her that the ditch was originally intended for the north side of the yard and that the county had put it on the wrong side about 10 years ago.

The ditch cuts through her property and she contends that it has eroded so much that it is now eight to 12 feet deep in some places and is rarely ever dry.

In addition, it is allegedly eroding her land so much that several pine trees have been washed away.

A federal loan for more than $2 million was awarded this week for construction of an apartment complex for retired persons in Bay St. Louis.

The award of a Housing and Urban Development loan in the amount of $2,313,300 to Catholic Charities Housing Inc., was announced Monday by Congressman Trent Lott.

The 60-unit complex will be called the Notre Dame de la Mer Manor and will be located off US-90 between the Seminary and Bay Royale Apartments.

"The diocese feels confident in this project with the experience gained from similar complexes on the Gulf Coast," said Father George Murphy, director of Catholic Social

The local United Way helps so many people

Many people are helped each year by the United Way of Hancock County.

The agencies supported by the United Way help Hancock Countians from pre-birth through their senior years.

This marks the 22nd drive for the United Way of Hancock County, and the drive is dedicated in memory of J. Norton Haas Sr. who served the fund raising organization as president for the last 13 years.

Mr. Norton was known as 'Mr. Fund Raiser' as well as 'Ambassador of Hancock County.'

Bob Hubbard is chairman of this year's fund-raising drive for which a goal of $50,000 has been set.

Many of the agencies supported by the United Way in Hancock County are active every day in helping our citizens in numerous ways, and in special ways during emergencies.

As an example, The Salvation Army, American Red Cross, Catholic Social Services, and Hancock County Emergency Relief organizations were very evident during and in the aftermath of Hurricane Elena.

Senior Citizens and Retired Volunteer Senior Program members are always involved in community endeavours which benefit so many.

Our Boy and Girl Scouts of Hancock County are learning and gaining experiences which will be with them the rest of their lives.

Residents are having operations and there is a need for blood and the Hancock County Blood Bank continues to conduct drawings.

Other agencies such as the Gulf Coast Mental Health, Mississippi County of Epilepsy, Goodwill Industries, U.S.O. (Worldwide), and the YMCA continue to conduct their services.

Last year more children than ever had a better Christmas because of the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund.

The 14 agencies supported by the United Way of Hancock County are all helping make our community a better place to live.

During the 1985 campaign, letters will be sent to many of the previous contributors and also to additional businesses and individuals.

Several volunteers will be calling on businesses for contributions and setting up payroll deduction plans for employees.

Like many other firms in Hancock County, we at The Sea Coast Echo have been using payroll deductions for United Way over the years. It is amazing how only two or four dollars a month from each employee will add up at the end of a quarter.

Hilda Bourg, United Way acting president, has chosen the theme of 'Give at Home,' with payroll deductions being emphasized during the 1985 drive.

Bourg served as campaign chairman for 1983 and 1984 campaigns.

Many Hancock County residents work in other counties or in other states. If their place of employment has a payroll deduction plan, they can designate their donation to Hancock County's fund.

Military and governmental employees giving through the Combined Agencies Campaign (CAC) from Hancock County are reminded to mark the proper county.

Hancock County's residents are urged to mark the number '701' on the CAC forms.

It is hoped that the people of Hancock County will show their appreciation in the memory of J. Norton Haas Sr., and make the 1985 Hancock County United Way Campaign successful.

Persons wanting to make contributions can send them to: United Way of Hancock County, P.O. Box 142, Bay St. Louis, MS. 39520.

GIRL SCOUTS LEAD—At the opening of Hancock County United Way 1985 campaign, Girl Scout Troop 98 members Bethany Burrows, left, and Kristen Tusa lead the Pledge of Allegiance to The Flag. The Girl Scout troop, sponsored by St. Clare's School, Waveland, is one of 21 troops of Gulf Pines in Hancock County supported by the local United Way. Bob Hubbard is the United Way's campaign chairman for the drive with a goal of $50,000. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

CHRONIC OBSTRUCTIVE PULMONARY DISEASE A KILLER

What is chronic obstructive pulmonary disease? Who is at risk for getting it? What can be done if you have it?

Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease combines two different but related diseases—emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

Emphysema is a permanent structural change of the lung, and little can be done to reverse it.

Chronic bronchitis, on the other hand, is at least potentially reversible.

It is defined by physicians as a chronic inflammation that produces cough and sputum and results in lung obstruction.

Diagnosing emphysema often is done partially with x-ray, but the signs of the disease often are so subtle that diagnosis is difficult.

This can be true even in severe emphysema.

In both emphysema and chronic bronchitis, however, efforts must be directed toward relieving the reversible elements of air-flow obstruction.

People with asthma may be more susceptible to developing chronic bronchitis if they smoke cigarettes. Harsh coughing and the production of phlegm are periodically evident in most people with chronic bronchitis.

Ex-smokers who have already developed a degree of lung obstruction, may suffer with these same problems.

Many people assume coughing is normal for smokers, but this is not true.

Coughing is a symptom of the lung's efforts to clean an irritation and often results from abnormal lung secretions.

However, approximately half of the smokers do not exhibit any of the symptoms suggesting chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. In fact, only one in six will develop the disease, but predicting who will be affected is impossible.

However, a relatively young person who has been smoking for more than 20 years, with a barely perceptible shortness of breath, clearly risks developing a more severe narrowing of the airways if smoking is continued.

If tests are performed, a physician probably will measure pulmonary function, or lung capacity and volume.

Continued smoking will also increase the risk of developing lung cancer and should be strictly reduced or, more desirably, stopped.

Even after kicking the habit, a smoker has little hope of regaining lost lung capacity, once air flow in the lungs has been reduced by chronic bronchitis or emphysema. The aim of giving up cigarettes is to stem the further deterioration of lung function.

Some physicians stress that patients who have lung disease may be endangered by other people's smoke. Family members should refrain from smoking around the lung-compromised person.

A physician-supervised exercise program can help a person with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease to stay in reasonable physical condition. It must be stressed, however, that exercise will not improve emphysema or chronic bronchitis-damaged lungs.

A small percentage of patients may need antibiotics during flare-ups of the disease. Patients diagnosed with early, and thus the most reversible, air-flow obstruction, may benefit from bronchodilators, and some carefully, selected patients may respond well to corticosteroid therapy.

In case you are looking for something to do this weekend, you may consider visiting Diamondhead's Creative Arts & Crafts Show.

This will mark the third year for the show at Diamondhead, and a record number of booths are already scheduled.

The show will be held on the circle in front of Diamondhead's Country Club on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

We hope to see you at the arts and crafts show.

High school football action will again be on schedule Friday night for area schools.

Bay High's Tigers will make the long journey to Vancleave for a Deep South Conference game.

Vancleave always appears to be up for Bay High, so Head Coach Cleveland Williams' Tigers best be ready for the Bulldogs.

Fan support could help and we know there should be many loyal Tigers fans make the journey.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central lost a heart breaker last Friday to the Stone County Tomcats and are hoping to get back on the right track in a game against the Pirates in Pass Christian.

The Pirates are hungry for a victory this season and will try to take advantage of any Hawk miscues.

It should be a good game, and the Head Coach Irving Favre should have his Hawks ready, while at the same time, Head Coach Alton Wright should have his small squad ready to play.

We are hoping both Hawk and Pirate fans will fill the stadium in Pass Christian Friday night.

The Bearcats of Long Beach will test the Rockchaws of St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis Friday.

Head Coach Vernon Powell has his Rocks rolling this year, especially after a come-from-behind victory over Mercy Cross last week.

The Rocks will have to play a much better game if they expect to take Long Beach, as the Bearcats are in a different class than Mercy Cross.

The Rock-A-Chaws too will need some fan support Friday.

Remember, kick-offs are at 7:30 p.m. and we hope you support your favorite high school team, and they score a victory.

Many residents were awakened early Monday morning by the crash of thunder and heavy rain fall.

Areas of Hancock County flooded which never flooded before because of the amount of rainfall caused by the severe thunderstorm which went on for hours.

Even several residents lost electricity due to transformers being struck by lightning.

Weather forecasters can mark that storm up as another one which was a surprise to them.

In weather reports we watched, no indications were given about thunderstorm threat.

We did have some folks say they slept right through the bad weather, all I can say is that they must sleep with ear plugs.

Small Business Administration

By Charles A. Gillis
Branch Manager

"Incubators" are proving to be an innovative means of hatching new small businesses and helping others to survive and prosper.

Incubators basically are facilities set up by private and government developers and by universities, providing under one roof a place where small firms can carry on their businesses and at the same time save costs through shared services that range from telephone and secretarial assistance to on-site training.

There are about 110 incubators scattered around the country today; one year ago there were about 30.

A survey sponsored by the Department of Commerce indicates that small companies starting out in incubators have a 70 percent to 80 percent success rate, much higher than for small business as a whole.

The concept of incubators was conceived in Europe after World War II and spread to the United States about 20 years ago, when the University City Science Center opened in Philadelphia.

Incubators received a major push through a series of conferences sponsored over the last year by the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Many state and local governments and private organizations now are promoting the use of incubators as a tool for improved economic development.

Incubators are usually housed in former manufacturing plants, warehouses, shopping centers or government buildings.

Incubator tenants share a variety of services and also can receive professional assistance on accounting and taxes, financing, planning and research, marketing and advertising, exporting, procurement and legal matters.

Incubator facilities are acquired or renovated through a variety of mechanisms, including purchasing, leasing or outright donation. Funding is often available from governments as well as corporations and foundations.

Incubator small business tenants are involved in research and development, assembly and light manufacturing, advanced technology, service and retail.

For more information on incubators, contact the U.S. Small Business Administration, Office of Private Sector Initiatives, 1441 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.

SBA's Office remains a clearinghouse on incubators and has a data base of incubator projects around the country.

Not all contests legal in state

By Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Mail and television advertisements abound with contests and sweepstakes exhorting consumers to enter and win wonderful prizes. But some of the contests are not legal in Mississippi.

"Play bingo and win one of these beautiful new cars," exclaims the entry form from American Holiday Association of Los Angeles, Calif.

Contestants are required to select words to fill in a bingo card. The different words have different point values.

When the contestant mails in the bingo card, he or she must also enclose some money. The amount varies from $1 to $3, depending on the type of car the contestant would like to win.

This requirement of sending money is what makes this contest illegal in Mississippi, according to Al Nuzzo, an assistant attorney with the state Attorney's General office.

"Lotteries are illegal in Mississippi. A lottery is defined as having three elements. A prize must be offered, there must be chance involved and there must be consideration," Nuzzo said.

"Consideration is defined as requiring the contestant to send money or to buy a product to be able to enter the contest."

The cars available in the American Holiday Association contest are a Chevrolet Camaro for $1, a Lincoln Continental for $2 and a Jaguar Coupe for $3. A $2,000, $5,000, or $10,000 cash bonus is also awarded if the contestant answers six opinion questions about imported cars.

The premise of the contest is the "consumer mini-survey." The contest is the incentive to get the player to answer the survey.

The survey asks, "How do you account for the remarkable popularity of imported cars in America? Is it due to better performance, better gas mileage, lower maintenance costs, better styling, better dealer service or higher resale value?" Each choice can be answered with yes, no or no opinion.

What does the contest sponsor do with this information? A call to the Instant Skill-Bingo Hotline found "the company just wants to know what people think."

"However, if one reads the fine print of the instructions, it becomes clear that the point of the contest is to make money for the sponsor," said Beverly Riggs, a family economics specialist with Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The fine print says, "975,000 players nationwide are anticipated in this contest." That means the contest sponsor will make about $1 million.

Only one car is awarded, unless there is a tie. Then the winners share "the retail value of the highest-priced car being played for."

Even after the cost of postage for the entry forms and the cost of the car awarded and the accompanying cash prize, a lot of profit is still left for the contest sponsor, Riggs said.

When asked about all of this profit, the Instant Skill-Bingo Hotline said they have 30 separate contests of Instant Skill-Bingo each year.

The contest sponsor estimates 80 percent of the respondents will answer the first round correctly. Each round of play "requires significantly more skill and each has its own rules."

Should a Mississippi resident win the contest, the prize could not be collected since the contest is a lottery, Nuzzo said.

Any contest that does not require a purchase or contribution of money is legal in the state. Examples of legal contests are sweepstakes sponsored by Reader's Digest and Publisher's Clearinghouse. Each wants you to buy subscriptions but the fine print says no purchase is necessary.

Each of these contests is regulated in the states where they originate according to John Frierson, a legal technician with the Federal Trade Commission in Atlanta.

The only regulation concerning contests is the "Games of Chance Rule for Food, Retailing and Gasoline" which took effect in 1972. Frierson said the rule requires that food, retailing and gasoline businesses disclose the odds of winning, the types of prizes, the number of prizes and the names of the winners.

"Until 1972, many of the contests were fixed and that's why the rule came into being," Frierson said.

"Regardless of the contest, consumers should read the fine print," Riggs said.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q: My husband and I were driving down a state highway and saw an automobile accident occur. I looked as though one or more persons might be injured. I wanted to stop and try to help the people, but my husband would not stop. He said that if we tried to help any of the people and they were permanently hurt or died, that they, or their heirs could sue us and get a big judgment. Is my husband correct?

A: The Mississippi law says that if you, while exercising reasonable care render assistance to any injured person at the scene of an emergency, you will not be liable for any damages to the injured person which result from your assistance. Therefore, you will not be liable for any injuries to a person in need of emergency assistance, if you use reasonable care in assisting them.

Q: Several years ago I opened a small gift shop in my home town. Business was good for a while but now I am in financial trouble. I do not want to declare personal bankruptcy if I can keep from it. Can I declare bankruptcy on the business only?

A: If your business is a sole proprietorship, you are personally liable for all debt of the business, and therefore, you cannot avoid personal bankruptcy. If, however, your business is incorporated, you may declare bankruptcy on the business without declaring personal bankruptcy.

Eighty-six years ago, on October 9, 1899, 19 local businessmen sat down to organize a bank. They saw a need for a bank that would be willing to put faith in the individual.

One to work side by side with local families to help the young Gulf Coast grow.

So, with one small frame building and deposits of $8,277.41, they founded Hancock Bank. And through the years, as your banking needs have grown, we've grown right along with you.

Moran to show clocks at Diamondhead Arts and Crafts Festival

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Although Dale Moran of Pass Christian has made "hundreds" of clocks in the past four years, clockmaking is strictly a hobby.
"I saw an expensively priced clock in a gift shop and decided that I could do that and do it for less," Moran explained his start in clockmaking.
With encouragement from friend Ken Matthews and a natural enjoyment of working with wood, Moran began to make clocks.
"I really like working with wood but I am not interested in doing it fulltime," he said.
Moran's fulltime job is a teaching post at St. Stanislaus College.
A resident of the Ladner Community on the Hancock and Harrison county lines, Moran works out of his garage.

He estimates there are 25 different clocks he makes including clocks on cutout shapes of trucks, crosses, birds and animals.

Moran also has a wide selection of sports clocks, featuring helmets of several college and professional football teams.

Moran sells his clocks which take four to five days to make at selected crafts shows in the area.

He will be one of the exhibitors at the Diamondhead Arts and Creative Crafts Festival Saturday.

FRAUD

As coastal county residents continue with the clean-up process, it is important to beware of fraud with contractors doing repair work. The attorney general's office gives these guidelines to help avoid problems with those doing painting, roofing and carpentry work:

1. Check their reputations with Better Business Bureau, banks, building and trade associations, city building permit departments, or friends.
2. Comparison shop. Ask neighbors and friends for recommendations. It is risky to use an unfamiliar company or individual.
3. Get a firm written estimate with a specific description of work to be done, the type and quality of materials to be used. Get a total cost of the job. Never use someone who has not come to the house to appraise the job.
4. Ask for a written contract. Read it carefully. Have an attorney or other trustworthy person review it also.

Make sure the contract includes: name, address and phone number of the contractor; a complete description of the work; specific description of materials to be used; provision requiring your written approval for any changes in the contract plans and specifications; a guarantee containing clearly stated terms that cover all promised items; a provision setting forth the total cost of the work and the specific terms of payment for materials and labor.

The contract must include the signature of the contractor.

Never sign any contract containing a blank space.

5. Never agree to pay cash in advance or to pay substantial payment on the total before work is begun unless there is a legitimate reason for this. Try to arrange installment payments as portions of the work are completed satisfactorily.

6. Never rely on oral guarantees. For more information or assistance on fraud, contact the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection, 1-800-223-5615. For other questions or assistance on basic money management, contact your local Cooperative Extension Service Consumer Management Center, 601-388-4710.

Waveland Legion candy sale to benefit Kidney Foundation

Members of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 in Waveland are participating in the National Kidney Foundation's Halloween Candy Sale.

The purpose of this event is to raise funds for the Kidney Foundation and to focus attention of the problem of kidney disease in Mississippi.

The Kidney Foundation urges everyone to become familiar with the six warning signs of kidney disease which are:

- Burning or difficulty during urination;
- More frequent urination, especially at night;
- Passage of bloody appearing urine;
- Puffiness around eyes or swelling of hands or feet;
- Pain in the small of back just below the ribs not aggravated by movement and high blood pressure.

Although there are several treatments available for kidney disease, the causes and cures must still be found. At the present time, Mississippi has the highest death rate, per capita, from kidney disease of any state.

The Kidney Foundation is fighting the problems of kidney disease through research, public education, professional education and patient and community services.

"Purchase Halloween treats from a Kidney Foundation volunteer and help 'Trick Kidney Disease' in Mississippi", an auxiliary spokesman urged.

Bay Little Theatre lists productions

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre announces its 40th season to open with the Pulitzer Prize winning "Crimes of the Heart" by Beth Henley.

"Crimes of the Heart" will mark the return of Burt Barrett as a director for the local community theatre. Nan Ehrbright will follow the success of last season's "How the Other Half Loves" with her direction of "Period of Adjustment" by Tennessee Williams.

The Little Theatre Board of Directors introduces Becky Rotundo as the season's new director with her production of Neil Simon's hilarious comedy hit, "God's Favorite".

Season tickets for the 40th season are available at $12 by mail to BSL Little Theatre, P.O. Box 342, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, or during the "Creating Christmas" artists market Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at the playhouse on Boardman.

In addition to the three regular season shows there will be a special musical production to commemorate the 40th season. The title will be announced by Board President Laurie Byrd after Jan. 1, 1986.

According to Tim Bourgeois, production chairman, the theatre will audition for almost 40 roles for the upcoming season, and will need at least 30 people to perform off-stage production roles of producing, props, publicity, ground maintenance and special exhibits.

Anyone interested in on or off stage work and becoming active in one of Mississippi's most renowned community theatres is asked to submit their name, address, phone number and interest to: Tim Bourgeois, 125 Melody Lane, Bay St. Louis, MS, 39520.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee-Taylor

FERTILIZE PEACH TREES

An interesting new discovery in peach nutrition concerns the use of nitrogen fertilizer. Tests in South Carolina have shown that over-fertilization with nitrogen can reduce nitrogen levels in the peach leaves.

This is possible because excessive nitrogen fertilization causes the peach tree to grow new leaves. The result is that the nitrogen level in the tree is diluted.

Modest applications of nitrogen do not cause the tree to "go wild" with growth, so there is actually more nitrogen per leaf.

For trees which haven't produced a crop recently and appear to have been injured this past winter (shoot growth less than 12 inches by now, yellow foliage with purple pellet-size holes), more nitrogen may be necessary.

As a general rule, such trees should have received 40 to 50 pounds of nitrogen this season. More nitrogen should be applied immediately to such trees, if needed.

Many trees that suffered last winter are under greater stress if bearing partial or full crops. Such trees will need up to 30 to 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre immediately after harvest.

Trees that appear to have fared well through the winter and had partial to full crops may or may not need added nitrogen, depending on soil type, variety, visual symptoms and foliar nitrogen levels.

Usually, such trees would require up to 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre in late August to early September in the herbicide band.

Application in late August to mid-September rather than after harvest will reduce the chances of getting additional shoot growth on healthy trees that have adequate shoot growth already.

Growers are advised not to underestimate the amount of stress trees have been under in 1985. A light post-harvest nitrogen application may go a long way toward maintaining the overall productivity of certain blocks of trees.

DEADLINE

Monday is the last day to apply for crop insurance for barley and wheat in Hancock County, according to Joan M. McCartney, a representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Crop insurance covers unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake, or fire.

Three coverage levels (50, 65, or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection. Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production loss or damaged," says McCartney.

A new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History (APH), is available this year to producers of wheat, barley, and oats, in addition to corn, grain sorghum, peanuts, cotton, rice and other crops.

Producers of these crops may now qualify for higher yield guarantees by proving their yield history.

Rates have been developed to offer reduced premium for producers with above-average yields.

"With the increased cost of producing of crop, it makes good sense to take a look at this new concept," says McCartney.

To find out more about the APH plan, producers should contact a local, authorized agent. To select an agent, producers may check the list of agents at their local ASCS office.

MCI to sponsor child safety fair

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant and Mason Chamberlain, Inc. will sponsor a Child Safety Fair on Saturday, Oct. 5, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the MSAAP Administration Building.

Jim Luke, crime prevention officer for Mason Chamberlain, said, "The Child Safety Fair will be for the children of all Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, Mason Chamberlain, and National Space Technology Laboratories personnel."

"There will be free video taping and fingerprinting of every child with all types of gifts from numerous area businesses," Luke added.

The reason for limiting this program for families of MSAAP, MCI and NSTL is because of the vast number of personnel, Luke said.

The security officer continued, "It is hoped that Mason Chamberlain will be able to offer the same and other child safety programs to the residents of the areas bordering NSTL in the near future."

The puppet show of John McGruff, National Crime Dog, will be one of the featured attractions at the fair.

Various types of door prizes will be awarded and also several food certificates.

Further information can be obtained by calling Luke at 467-8625, or Don Frierson, chief of security at Mason Chamberlain.

You don't have to be on Skid Row to be an alcoholic.

You probably already know that a lot of those people you see on Skid Row are there because of alcohol-related problems. What you may not know is that those very visible drinkers represent less than 1 % of the nation's alcoholics. The other 99 % are "normal" people — the ones who are holding jobs and maintaining families but having a rough time of it because their drinking has gotten to be a real problem.

All it takes is an inability to say "no" to a drink or to control the amount you drink, and you have a drinking problem — regardless of age or sex. Thousands of men, as well as a startlingly large percentage of women and teenagers, are struggling with alcoholism.

If you think that you or someone you know is an alcoholic, don't wait until you hit Skid Row to do something about it. Call one of the following phone numbers for help.

LOAN APPROVED—A federal Housing and Urban Development loan for $2,313,300, was approved this week for an apartment complex for low income elderly and handicapped persons in the Bay St. Louis area. Services for the Diocese of Biloxi. "Housing has always been a special area of concern for us and we believe we can increase the normal quality of care for the elderly as a church community," he said.

"We have been anxious to get the complex in Bay St. Louis because of the low number of available apartments and also because of the fairly substantial number of Catholics in the area," Murphy added.

"Of course, the apartments will be rented to anyone who meets the HUD guidelines, regardless of religion," he said.

Catholic Charity Housing Inc. currently operates two complexes with a total of 400 units, the Santa Maria in Biloxi and Villa Maria in Ocean Springs.

The loan to build Notre Dame de la Mer is the biggest one this year in Mississippi, Lott said.

These long-term loans are made directly to developers of housing for the low income elderly and handicapped.

Murphy said the apartments should be completed within two years.

The two-story building will include six apartments designed for handicapped residents, a community dining area and common laundry facilities.

Dam.....

adequate drainage in the subdivision.

The floor of their home on East Granada Street was covered with water when they woke up Monday morning.

Lawson said he is planning to take the matter to court because he feels the flooding is more a result of poor drainage than heavy rain.

He said the water in the street used to come up as far as a light pole several hundred yards from his property line, but has been gradually getting closer. He feels the matter is a county problem.

"Courage made this problem himself. When other people started moving in and he began digging ditches on other streets, he flooded us immediately, even though it never got into the house before," he said.

Mrs. Weaver said she is not sure how much her home has been damaged, but said she is angry because when she called Courage for help, he allegedly remained in his truck and would not wade through the knee-deep water to look at the house.

She said she is sure wallpaper, sheet rock, insulation and flooring will have to be replaced. In addition, the family lost shoes, tape cassettes, books and other items stored under beds or on closet floors.

She called tow trucks to remove two cars because she felt the water might damage the engines.

It took the four from 5 a.m. until 1 p.m. to get the standing water out of the house.

Mrs. Weaver is worried that flooding may disrupt her household again.

"Because I have two small children, I worry about this. I worry about water contaminated by raw sewage where septic tanks have backed up. I worry about snakes. How am I going to tell the children they can't play in the water?"

She said flooding in her yard is common and said she is most upset because this is the first time water has come into the house.

"It's so bad my dog can't even sit down. It bends its back legs and straightens back up right away because it gets wet," she added.

She also said she has no insurance and does not know where repair money will come from because her husband is unemployed.

She said the only vehicle that came through East Granada Street Monday was the mailman's car.

Bay St. Louis Postmaster Tom Hill said more homes could not be reached by mail carriers after the flood than after Hurricane Elena.

Areas to which there was no access included much of BaySide Park, Shoreline Park, part of Diamondhead and Springwood Park.

In Springwood park, Selano Street resident Steve Munson and his neighbor Hugo Favre Jr., who lives closer to the front of the subdivision, said they must go to the end of the road to get their mail.

Munson and his wife are staying with Favre because Favre's trailer has no water inside. Water is still waist-deep in Munson's Selano Street residence.

"We've only lived in the house a week. I had just finished installing panelling and insulation and now I'll have to tear it all out again."

Munson has been using a flat-bottomed boat to check on his home periodically. "This whole subdivision is on the edge of a swamp and I don't want any snakes getting in there."

"This is the second time it has been this bad, and I've been here five years," said Favre.

Munson said he feels that part of the cause of the flood was an unusually heavy amount of rain, but he feels subdivision drainage is inadequate because it takes a whole day for water to drain off roads under normal conditions.

He said the ditches in the area are overgrown and clogged and need to be cleaned. He feels that would remedy much of the problem.

He added that he has occasionally discussed the matter with Courage, but has had no results.

"He keeps saying he'll do something but he never does. When he grades the roads he puts all the dirt at the other end of my street and builds it up. That sends more water to me," Munson explained.

He is particularly concerned about a large drainage ditch running out of the subdivision and under Lakeshore Road. He believes it is the main ditch for the area and feels large trees in it trap debris and impede drainage.

He plans to attend Monday's board meeting to try to get some assistance with the problem.

Another area resident, Gary Lawson reported he had more than three feet of water standing on his property.

Lawson said early Monday morning, there was water inside his trailer which is three feet off the ground.

His wrecking yard which is located behind his residence had four and five feet of water in some areas, Lawson said.

He also supports the proposal to have some drainage openings placed under the highway.

"The median of the highway is dry out there in front of my house, but I have three feet of water in here," he said.

Lawson also reported that there had been several inches of water in his auto repair shop located next to his residence.

While rainfall totals over the flooded areas varied, a spokesman for National Space Technology Laboratories said Wednesday that a combination of water from five days could be responsible for the flooding.

More than nine inches of rain fell Sept. 3 and 4, with about four more on Sept. 9, saturating the ground. Rainfall total 3.9 inches Monday and .58 of an inch Tuesday.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

Many industrial accidents involve back injuries. A person can lift a box with his back, using his strong leg muscles, instead of his back muscles, often resulting in strain of the spinal column, and in the "pinching" of nerves. The back muscles can be injured, and the body parts, muscles, and nerves can suffer.

Who's a Doctor

(The following article resulted from a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association. The opinions expressed are those of the author and not of either organization.)

By Robert I. Alotta
Department of Communication
Mississippi State University

The receptionist in the dentist's office called me Mister.

Mister, according to my handy etiquette book, is always acceptable — if a person is unaware of another's correct title.

Ann Landers wrote about the etiquette of addressing professional types. Landers agreed with a letter-writer who believed a correlation existed between the ease of attaining a degree and the demands that one be called Doctor.

The writer indicated that he or she held a doctorate and didn't really care what people called him or her.

As I read the letter I wondered if the problems education is experiencing today are a reflection of a lack of respect for academic achievement.

After all, you can call the mechanic who fixes your carburetor Mister, and the mailman, and senior male citizens.

Am I being a snob, thinking that I should be called Doctor? Did I not work 18 hours a day — in a non-academic job — while doing master's and doctoral studies? Should I personally expect some respect and recognition, after going back to school 25 years after I finished my undergraduate work?

Perhaps I still wonder if this desire to call only physicians "Doctor" indicates that we hold people who treat our bodies with more respect than those who treat our minds?

Perhaps. Let's be frank about the whole thing. If parents have enough confidence in academics to put their children in our hands, we must command some respect. Would they do it if they thought the whole bunch of us were no more educated than they? I seriously doubt it.

Most of us in the academic world treat students with as much, if not more, care and consideration than our compatriots in the medical and dental sciences do. For example, we are the ones who get in trouble with department heads and deans for being excessively late for class. When was the last time a physician or dentist was reprimanded for keeping a patient waiting?

We are the ones entrusted with formative minds. If we slip in our duties, we can do irreparable damage. Physicians who fail to cure with a placebo can try another elixir. If all else fails, they can get an artificial heart. We cannot. The dentist can fill a tooth then, when the tooth continues to decay, extract it and supply the fresh young mouth with fixed bridge work. If the decay runs rampant, there are always dentures.

We cannot do that in education. Rest assured that academics are neither medical nor dental practitioners. But we should expect similar respect or equal treatment because we are the people who are entrusted with the minds and souls of future generations.

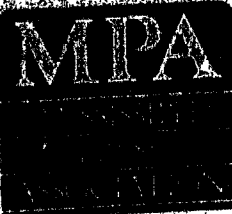

If not forthcoming, we must demand respect. If we allow ourselves to be addressed in the same manner as one would address a high school dropout, we deserve the low pay, the long hours and the lack of recognition which seems to permeate American society.

An earned doctorate is not something that everyone is capable of achieving. Those who have doctorates have slaved over volume after volume of erudite literature in their field; have mastered the foreign language requirements of their schools; have been made to recognize their own limitations and strengths through written and oral comprehensives; have written a dissertation, then successfully defended it.

We are talking about men and women who have devoted their lives to educating the young. They did not earn their doctorates to work for a corporation, earn $70-$80,000 a year, or to provide themselves extravagant luxuries.

If America adores wealth and the dollar, then respect is where it should be. We, as academics, should accept this lowly spot and be satisfied with being called Mister, Miss or Ma. If we do not respect ourselves, and do not care what we are called, we do not deserve respect.

WET KITCHEN—About six inches of water covers the floor of Steve Munson's kitchen in his Springwood Park residence Tuesday. Munson said his family had lived in the house only a week before rising water forced evacuation. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

"It separates the yard from the rest of my land, and I can't build a bridge because the water moves so fast during a rain that it would wash out," she explained.

"The land's unusable. We wanted to use it for pasture, but everytime it rains the water comes up to my horses' knees."

"I can't tell you the number of things that water has carried away. The kids leave toys in the yard and the rain washes them into the ditch."

She said objects carried away are not always small. Some of the things washed away Monday included items as large as a child's tricycle.

She said she tried to obtain some assistance from Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca, but he was unable to even inspect the problem because he lives in Silver Creek Acres, where the access roads flooded during Monday's heavy rain.

Previous attempts to obtain assistance from the county resulted in referrals to the state officials because the road is being paved under a State Aid Road Program contract.

Shipman feels, however, that the drainage problem is the county's responsibility because it predates the paving contract and because the position of the ditch was never corrected.

Travirca said Tuesday that he drove through the Fire Tower Road area after water on the access roads to his property cleared Monday.

"During a flood, there is absolutely nothing we can do," he explained.

He said he heard numerous complaints about flooding and drainage in his beat Monday and Tuesday.

"It's an act of God. We can fill some low areas like Shoreline Park to avoid problems but we can't do anything when it's happening."

He said he feels much of the flooding resulted from unusually heavy rain. Some of the one-time occurrences resulted from Hurricane Elena debris that clogged ditches and can be corrected by cleaning the culvert.

"In most places the culverts couldn't have handled it in the first place because the water got over them. They won't work when the water gets that high," Travirca added.

The supervisors meet at 9 a.m. Monday, Sept. 30.

US-90.....

"We will be working in the area in the very near future to improve drainage," Joiner said in a telephone interview Wednesday afternoon.

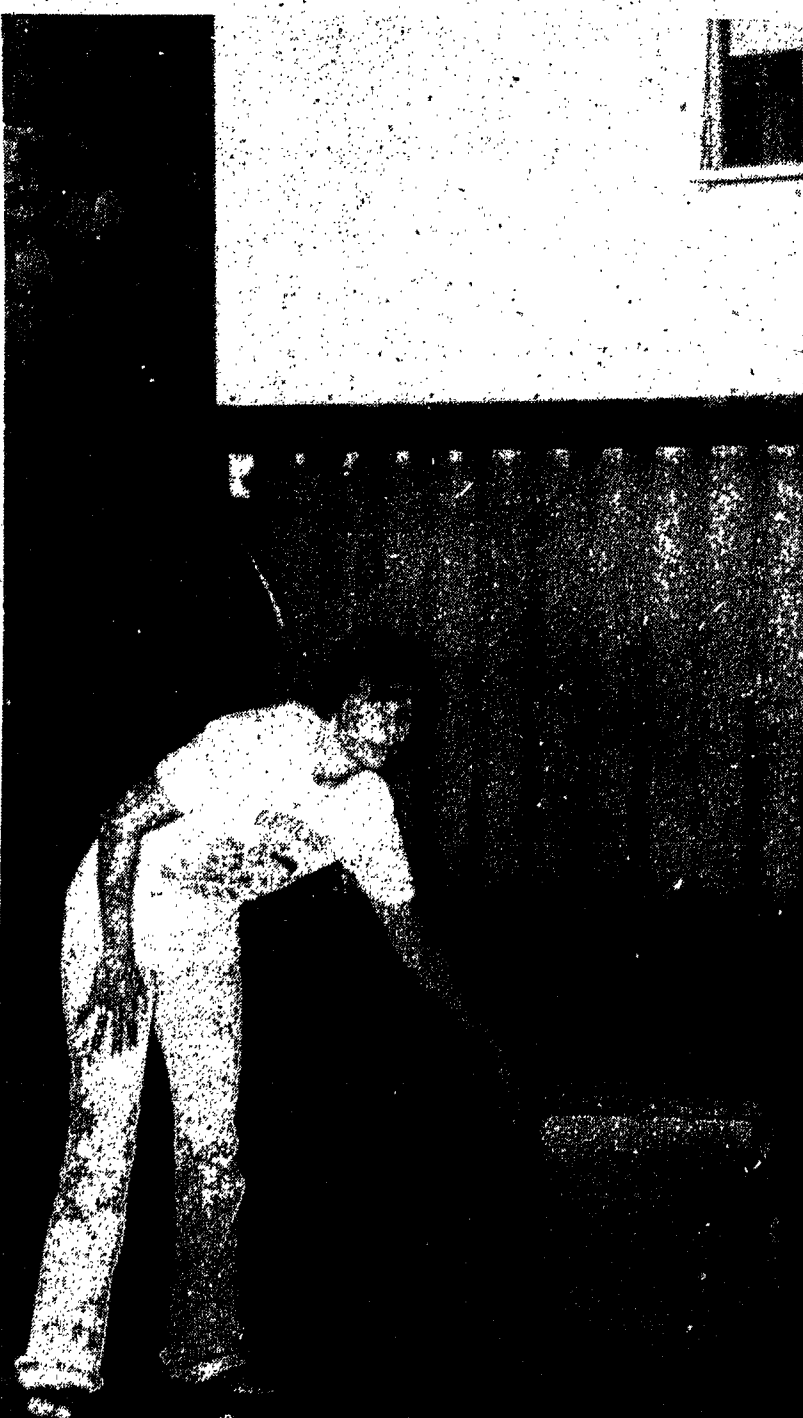

"There are plans for additional openings for drainage across the highway," he said, "but you always have a chance of flooding after excessive rainfall."

Joiner said a state road supervisor had inspected the area Monday following the rain and found that many county roads were flooded as well as state roads.

"Our long range plans for renovation of the highway all across the state are in progress but the speed they will be completed depend on the federal funding," he said.

"The more federal funds we receive, the more accelerated the project will be," he added.

The new bridge on US-90 is expected to be under construction by the end of October.

Hawk defense bracing for Pass Christian's single wing offense

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The team with the least mistakes will be the winner in the Hancock North Central vs. Pass Christian game, Friday night, says Pirate Coach Alton Wright.

Both teams will be looking for a win, coming off losses last week. The HNC Hawks dropped their second game of the season to the Stone County Tomcats in a road game and Pass lost to St. Martin at home.

Hawk Coach Irvin Favre said the team had to redeem themselves.

"Last week we just were not ready to play and it showed in the number of turnovers and missed opportunities we had," Favre said.

Favre said he believes the hardest part of this week's game is preparing for the single wing offense.

"This is the first time of my 21 years of coaching to go against a team using the single wing attack," he said.

"I just don't know much about preparing for it and it is even hard to get information about this offensive game plan," Favre added.

After several years of facing the quarterback, center combination, the defense is looking at the possibility of three men making the plays, he said.

"The defense is having a hard time picking up what the offense will do because there are so many things that they can do," the Hawk Coach said.

It has been an interesting week, as the Hawks have been trying to imitate the Pass Christian offense, so the defensive players can see what they have to do, Favre said.

Pass Coach Wright said his team will have their hands full trying to stop Hawk Quarterback Brett Farve.

"We have not only got to stop his passing game, but have got to contain him on the run as well," Wright said.

The Hawks run out of the wishbone offensive formation and run their options real well, Wright added.

"We believe that the Hawks are a better ball club than St. Martin but that it will be a good game," he said.

Wright said the Pirates had a few personnel changes this week to try and strengthen the defense.

"Offensively, we are committed to the single wing formation and are working hard and improving it as we get into the season," Wright said.

"This week we hope to continue to improve," he said, "our timing is getting better and the practices have been good this week."

Hawk coach Favre said he knows this game will be a battle because the Pirates are always tough on their home field and are hungry for a win.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. in the Pirate Stadium.

Undefeated Rocks to host Bearcats

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws entertain the Long Beach Bearcats Friday night with kickoff set at 7:30 at Rockchaw stadium.

The Rocks, victorious in their first two ballgames against St. John and Mercy Cross, will face stiff competition from the Bearcats who lost to No. 8 ranked Ocean Springs last week, 12-7.

"We will certainly have our work cut out for us," said Rockchaw head coach Vernon Powell. "But we are having a good week of practice and are busy making the necessary adjustments needed to beat Long Beach. The coaches are beginning to see senior leadership surface, and this has had a fine effect on the unity of the team. However, the test comes at 7:30 p.m. on Friday night."

New Long Beach head coach Paul Magee is showing signs of turning around the football program at Long Beach who went 1-9 in 1983 and 2-8 in 1984. The offense features a Pro formation with the 1 backfield to highlight the hard-running of Robert Taylor and field generalship of quarterback Randy Clunan.

Both the offensive and defensive lines are highlighted by proven senior leadership, featuring guard Ronnie Jamison and tackle Chuck Tinsley. Defensively, Long Beach will use a 5-man front, with Taylor, Bo Vonderbuegge and Timmy Hebert anchoring the interior of the line.

Coach Powell commented, "We want our boys to play up to their level of ability. If we can do that, I know we will come away with a big victory."

Tigers to face tough line, fast quarterback

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers will face a tough line and a fast quarterback at Vancleave Friday in their fourth conference battle.

Bay High is undefeated with three conference wins against Stone County, Pass Christian and Pearl River Central, leaving only Vancleave and East Central in the way of a conference title.

The Vancleave Bulldogs have a 2-1 season record so far, with victories against Mercy Cross and Saint Martin and a defeat by Perry Central.

"There is a lot riding on this game for the Tigers," said Bay High Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

"The Vancleave line is huge. Their average weight is about 230 pounds," Williams said.

In addition to having to break through a line much larger than their own, the Tigers will have to deal with a backfield Williams calls "exceptionally quick."

"Their quarterback is a scrambler who loves to run. The Tiger defense will have to contain him because he is a multi-talented athlete."

"The Bulldogs run a Power I formation and they get good blocking on both power and speed plays. They use a balanced attack and have tall receivers who could be a problem for the Tiger secondary," he added.

"The Tiger defense has played good ball for the past three weeks, but I feel we will be challenged more this week than ever before because of the importance of this game," Williams said.

Because the Tigers are outsize by the Vancleave defense, it is crucial that the offensive line be ready for Friday's game, the coach added. In the backfield, the Tigers will be led by quarterback Quentin Bell. Bell played his first game as starting quarterback last week against Pearl River Central, replacing injured senior Jeffrey Smith.

Also expected to be crucial to offensive play against Vancleave are Stace McRaney, Dennis Dear and Matt Fairconnetue who have been Bay High's primary receivers this year; and leading ground gainers Willie Lewis, Louis Burton, Matt Fairconnetue and Aaron Whavers.

Whavers formerly served as a back-up but has been advanced to starter this week.

Probable offensive starters are Butch Pierce, center; Trace McRaney and Gela Carter, guards; Craig Breland and Greg Necaise, tackles; Stace McRaney, tight end; Dear, split end; Fairconnetue, wingback; Lewis, running back;

Whavers, fullback; and Bell, quarterback.

On the defensive side, probable starters include Lewis, Stace McRaney, Trace McRaney, Jerry Island, Burton, Breland, Dear, Whavers, Necaise, Carter, Fairconnetue and Jessie Parker.

Parker, like Whavers, formerly played as a back-up but has been advanced to first string this week.

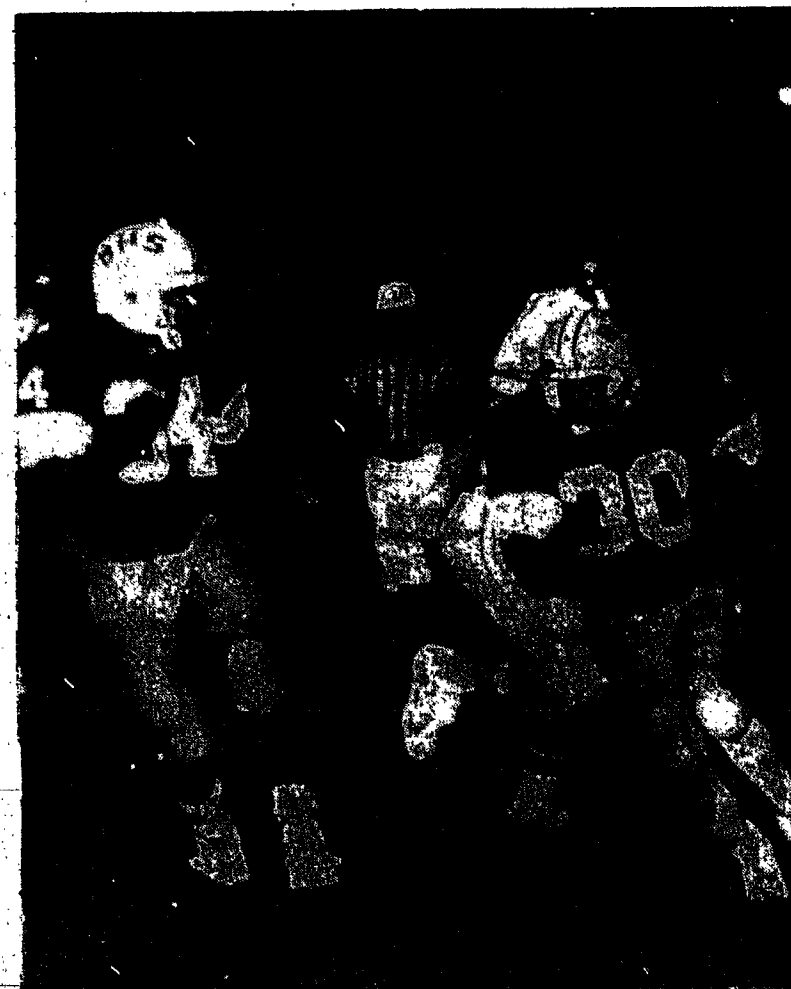

Williams credited Necaise with several crucial plays for the Tigers against Pearl River Central last week.

Necaise made several quarterback sacks last Friday against the Blue Devils.

"He played an exceptional game on defense in which he was backed up by 10 other hard-nosed athletes who have been doing a good job for the Tigers this season," the coach said.

Most Valuable Player selections reported

By EDGAR PEREZ

Two quarterbacks and a fullback were selected as most valuable of offensive players in high school football action Friday.

Two backs and one lineman were named for defensive honors by the program sponsors, Lolacano's Health Club and Rickey Geoffrey's Trophies, both in Bay St. Louis.

Quarterbacks Jimmy Dempsey of St. Stanislaus and Quentin Bell of Bay High, along with fullback Drew Malley of Hancock North Central took the offensive honors this week.

Dempsey is credited with a 36-yard touchdown pass completion and a 43-yard completion to set up a second Rock score.

Bell, playing his first game as the Tigers' number one quarterback, also completed a touchdown aerial as well as a second connection to set up a score.

Malley scored the Hawks' only touchdown against Stone, carried six times for 45 yards and is credited with 'a good job running and blocking.'

Line backers David Zanca of St. Stanislaus and Jacob Dupree of Hancock North Central and tackle Greg Necaise of Bay High took the MVP-Defense awards this week.

Zanca is credited with four unassisted tackles, three assisted tackles, one interception and with knocking down two Mercy Cross passes.

The judges said Dupree 'played an outstanding defensive game, stopping everything that came his way.'

Necaise is the Bay High MVP based on his consistent sacking of the Pearl River Central quarterback.

Dynamites open season with big win

Dynamite, the Bay St. Louis Girls Under 12 soccer team sponsored this year by Gifts-n-Gold, won its opening game of the season 7-0 against Slidell's Red Hots.

This is the first time in its three years of play that Dynamite has won its first match.

It is also the first time that Whitney White, with assistance from Kim Weinstein and Kim Manieri, scored a goal.

The other six goals were made by Kim Weinstein, one on assistance from Erin O'Brien.

The goalies were Amy Lee, Megan Uram, Whitney White and Day Hays - each girl playing one quarter.

Veteran goalie Susanna Cameron was out with an injury.

The team is at full capacity with 18 members, three of whom have never played before.

They are Mallory Mestayer, Meghan Brackovitch and Becky Monti.

"We stress sportsmanship, team unity, good nutrition, and practice, practice, practice", said coaches Kathy Edwards and Rachel Weinstein who commended the team members and parents for their dedication to the disciplines required for successful team play.

Whitney White, right, dribbles in for her first goal.

Kim Manieri sets up her first goal as a Dynamite team member.

For bowhunters:

Pre-season practice with broadheads essential

Many bowhunters fail to practice shooting with broadheads before season. That's an oversight which usually comes back to haunt them. "Even though a practice point and a broadhead may weigh the same, more than likely they will fly differently," explains Andy Simo, New Archery Products, manufacturer of the Razorback broadhead system. He's right. A broadhead-tipped arrow may hit the target several inches from where a practice point hits. That can mean the difference between an accurate shot and a miss or a poor hit. So practice with broadheads as the final step in your pre-season practice. If you don't want to dull a few blades, get a head style which has practice heads of plastic in the right weight.

For information on the best ways of shooting practice and other bowhunting and archery information, contact the Bowhunters' News Service, 7626 JW. Donges Bay Rd., Mequon WI 53092. Ask for their information packet. It's free.

DEMONS LEAD SERIES
Southern Mississippi will meet the Northwestern (La.) State Demons this Saturday night in Roberts Stadium. The Golden Eagles will enter the game with an overall record of 1-2 after last Saturday's 23-20 loss to Mississippi State, while the Demons come into the game with a 1-2 record. Northwestern State was open last week and hasn't played since Sept. 14. The Demons upset the Golden Eagles last season, winning 22-0 in Hattiesburg, to take an 11-9 lead in the series that dates back to 1930.

USM PUNTER
USM sophomore punter Billy Knighten had another good game last week against Mississippi State. He punted 10 times against the Bulldogs for a 42.9 average, including a 64-yarder. In the team's three games this season he has punted 20 times for a 43.3 yard average. His 63-yarder against Auburn two weeks ago was the second longest punt in school history.

Wildlife Department eyeing illegal hunting activities

DEER PLANS FOR NE

As the deer hunting season approaches, the Department of Wildlife Conservation wants the illegal hunters in northeast Mississippi to know that their unlawful activities will not be tolerated, according to an agency spokesman.

"The Department is convinced that illegal hunting, and not running deer with dogs, is responsible for much of the decline in the deer population in this area of the state," executive director Lon Strong said.

Earlier the Department announced a four-point plan to be implemented this fall to begin the improvement of the deer herd in northeast Mississippi.

A portion of the plan deals with the wildlife agency's position on hunting deer with dogs.

"What some people don't understand is that our Department supports the ethical use of dogs as an acceptable and traditional method for hunting deer," Strong explained.

"Ethical means harvesting deer within the limits of state law and the regulations of our department. It also entails that dog owners and other users hunt responsibly and control their dogs so that no damage to property occurs, and so as not to infringe upon the rights of any landowners or the general public."

Strong said that his agency is opposed to the closing of counties or regions to the use of dogs, so as to prevent the ethical dog user from enjoying his sport.

According to Strong the wildlife department will be keeping close tabs on the following activities this hunting season: using dogs to hunt deer on property where they are not welcome; parking vehicles on, or standing along public roads while hunting, especially where this activity may pose a hazard to persons or property; and using motorized vehicles on public roads while hunting for any purpose other than transportation to and from the hunting area.

This policy involving hunting and the use of dogs was first passed by the five-member Commission on Wildlife Conservation in January 1983 and reaffirmed at its meeting this past May.

PUBLIC HEARING

Field trials, running dogs during the turkey season, and establishing fox pens—these are the subjects slated for discussion between hunters and the state Department of Wildlife Conservation.

The hearing will get underway at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 10, at the wildlife agency's Jackson office, located at Southport Center.

Anyone wishing to express their views on these matters should make plans to attend. A copy of the proposed rules affecting field trials, running dogs during the turkey season, and establishing fox pens may be obtained by contacting the Department. Ask for a copy of Public Notice No. 2550.

Bulldogs continue winning streak

The undefeated Gulf Coast Junior College Bulldogs, 45-6 winners over the East Central Warriors, take to the road this weekend when they travel to Booneville to do battle with the Northeast Junior College Tigers.

Although Northeast has a 2-2 record, they are known to have a fast team.

"Northeast has a 6'2", 230 pound fullback that is a tough hard-nose runner," said Bulldog assistant Coach Joe Allan.

He said Northeast uses a "run and shoot offense similar to the Houston Gamblers." And on defense, Allan said, "they use a 4 and 3 or a 5 and 2 line and move around a lot."

Allan said there will be no changes this week in Bulldog strategy.

"When you've won the last two games with over 100 points, you stay with what you have."

In the win over East Central, the Bulldogs rushed for 351 yards and gained 143 passing. East Central managed to muster only 54 yards rushing and 26 passing.

"Our entire offensive line did an outstanding job—it is impossible to name just a few," Allan said. "And it is the same with the defense, however, I will say that Joe Jackson of Gulfport made 9 tackles, 8 assists, and had one interception."

Allan announced these lineups for Saturday night's game:

Offense:
Quarterback Philip McMillan of Vanceave, backs Karl Jones of Zachary, La., Tim Galloway of Ocean Springs, and Gary Jones of Gulfport; linemen Frank Skinner of Biloxi, Joe Cox of Zachary, La., and Bob Waldrop of Wilwood, Fla., Connie Daniels of Gulfport; and Wayne Scott of New Orleans; and tightends Tyrone Jones of Ruston, La. and Harold Tillman of Wiggins.

Defense:
Backs Lee Perkins and Danny Henry, both of Pascagoula, and Donald McCorvey of Biloxi; linebackers Linny Prestly of West Jefferson, La., Joe Jackson and Rodney Thompson, both of Gulfport; ends David Mills of Wilwood, Fla.; and Mitch Barlow of Moss Point; and tackles Charlie Williamson of Pascagoula and Mike Blakney of Gulfport.

Kickers are John McNeil of Gulfport and Norman Hance of Pascagoula.

Musings

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders won 28 to 0 against the Open Door Academy Eagles from Foley, AL, in a Saturday game at the CEHS Pass Christian Campus.

There was a defensive struggle for two quarters until Dylan Langdon broke around the left end for a 25-yard touchdown.

The PAT failed. Halftime score was 6 to 0.

The Raiders opened the third quarter with Victor Marchese at fullback and John Gregory at tailback. They normally play at center and guard, respectively, on the offense.

Marchese broke around the left and for a 35-yard touchdown run. However, the PAT failed again. The score was 12 to 0.

Stopping the Eagles again, CEHS Gregory ran the ball four straight times ending with an eight yard touchdown run. Gregory converted the PAT for a 20 to 0 score at the end of the third quarter.

The Raider defense converted a strong pass rush into a fumble recovery with Justin Scott recovering and scoring on a 20 yard run. Langdon converted the PAT. The final score was 28 to 0.

The next game will be Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at the CEHS campus.

The Homecoming Game will be played against Bible Baptist from Gulfport.

Homecoming activities will include the crowning of the queen. The court includes Holly Carter, freshman; Leah Salsbury, sophomore; Kriss Conyers, junior; and Gretchen Harmon and Candy Mizell, seniors.

One of the seniors will be crowned queen.

In the evening, a Homecoming Dance will be held at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Somehow, we are never cheered by a bulk-rate letter to "occupant" that signs off with "warm personal regards."

Hunting ethics program underway in Mississippi

At its recent 1985 annual meeting in Jackson the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, joined by the other major sportsmen's groups in the state, announced a new hunter ethics awareness program—Sportsmen of Mississippi Acting Responsibly Together—or SMART.

The purpose of SMART is to assure the availability of our wildlife for future generations. By encouraging ethical hunting, the group will help insure adequate wildlife populations to allow hunting, more places to hunt, more effective wildlife management, and the continued public support of hunting.

"SMART is the result of the many complaints and reports we received about unethical hunting behavior," said Sam King, newly-elected president of the federation. "Poaching and trespassing are the two biggest concerns. It's hurting the game and damaging the sport."

"There are people afraid to drive down a public road or even go out into their own yards during hunting season," King continued.

"Landowners are being run over, their fences cut, their livestock killed, their property destroyed. So what those folks are doing is closing up their land to all hunters, and the true sportsman is the one who suffers."

"We believe it is time to do something about all of this. The actions of a few who are disregarding game and fish laws and violating the rights of landowners are giving all hunters a black eye," stated King. "We want to show landowners and the general public that real sportsmen are concerned enough about this problem to try to improve the situation."

SMART has three basic goals: (1) to decrease unethical hunting; (2) to encourage cooperation between hunters and landowners; and (3) to improve the public image of hunters and hunting. The strategy for meeting these goals involves a number of factors.

At the heart of SMART is the installation of a toll-free phone line for reporting wildlife violations. The line, with the number 1-800-BE SMART, is being funded by the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, the Mississippi Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation, the 82 Conservation Association, the Mississippi Bowhunters Association, the Mississippi Trappers Association, the Mississippi Muzzleloading Hunters Association, the Mississippi BASS Federation, the Marion County Chapter of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, and several contributing individuals.

"All of these groups were concerned enough about unethical hunting to put their money into something concrete to stop it," said King. "I think it's a great example of sportsmen working together for the good of the whole sport, despite the fact that they represent different interest groups."

Also crucial to the success of SMART is the public awareness campaign launched at the MWF annual meeting. Free bumper stickers and brochures will be distributed across the state to spread the word about SMART. News releases and radio and TV spots will be released regularly. Local groups of sportsmen and interested citizens are being formed to monitor the situation in their area and work with law enforcement officials and Justice Court judges to report unethical hunting incidents and to encourage consistent prosecution of wildlife violation cases.

Future plans include a push for laws which would discourage unethical hunting and an educational program to promote outdoor ethics. SMART sponsors hope to reach young sportsmen through the required hunter education classes and 4-H groups and to eventually make information available to various school groups.

SMART is being supported and actively promoted by the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, the Mississippi BASS Federation, the Mississippi Bowhunters Association, the Mississippi Catmen's Association, the Marion County Chapter of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, the Mississippi Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation, the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation, the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, the Mississippi Forestry Association, the Mississippi Muzzleloading Hunters Association, the Mississippi Trappers Association, the 82 Conservation Association, and the Mississippi Firearms Owners Association.

Each of these organizations or agencies has a representative on the SMART Council. The council will direct the program and insure that each participating group is kept up-to-date on the status of SMART. Each council member will also see that SMART information is distributed to the membership of his particular organization.

Holidays aren't all Christmas and New Years. There's also Bird Day, which is generally celebrated with Arbor Day; Sadie Hawkins Day is Nov. 16 this year; World Poetry Day is Oct. 15; Loyalty Day is on May 1; General Pulaski Memorial Day is on Oct. 11 and American Family Day falls on Aug. 4.

It's a few hours before the game. Can't you just smell that big T-bone steak cooking? Every football player must have that big, juicy 10-ounce steak to play well, right? Not really! Sure, it's tradition, and your big brother ate steak before games. However, this type of meal does not provide athletes with the energy they need, and could actually be harmful.

There are many reasons why a large piece of red meat is not the best choice for the pre-game meal. Red meats that include beef, lamb and pork contain more than 60% of their calories as fat. This large quantity of fat in meats plus the fats added in the form of butter, margarine and salad dressings to other foods, take more than 10 hours to digest. Therefore, fat cannot provide energy for a game that is only two to three hours away.

Blood is diverted from working muscles to the digestive tract in its attempt to digest the fat and performance on the field is not enhanced. Also any food sitting in an athlete's stomach has potential to cause distress, cramps and stitches.

You may be thinking there is also protein in that steak and that it is necessary for top performance. Protein takes about five hours to digest, and is not a good fuel for the body to use in a game. An adult male needs only about 8 ounces of protein foods per day, and the pre-game meal is not the best time to pack in the whole day's allotment.

Athletes should think about why they are eating before the game. There are two main reasons, first to provide energy foods and second to provide adequate fluids for hydration.

In order to provide energy, they need to choose a food that can be absorbed before the game. In addition, the food must be converted easily to energy. Carbohydrates fill both these requirements and allow them to play their best.

Better choices for the pre-game meal include pancakes, waffles and cereal topped with applesauce, hot fruit or a little syrup. Spaghetti would also be a good choice.

Congressman reviews hearing on VA's MD credentials check

"Based on what I've heard this morning, I am satisfied with the Veterans Administration's efforts to resolve questions about the qualifications of some of its health care personnel," said Congressman G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MI), chairman of the Veterans Affairs Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations.

Montgomery made his comments following a hearing to review the VA's procedures for verifying and monitoring the credentials of its physicians.

Montgomery, who has been concerned about recent press accounts of a VA internal audit that has uncovered impairments or irregularities in the licenses of 87 of the agency's physicians, said "there is no cause for alarm among veterans who use VA medical facilities, but we will continue to keep a close eye on the matter."

He added that, while the number of discrepancies is small when compared to the total number of doctors working for the VA, "the possibility of even a single unqualified doctor, nurse or other health care professional within the VA medical system warrants the attention of our committee."

The VA initiated the audit earlier this year by asking the Federation of State Medical Boards, the American Medical Association, and the California State Board of Medical Quality Assurance to match the names of 46,335 physicians employed by the VA in 1983 and/or 1984 against information in their data banks. It was this review that identified the 87 license irregularities.

According to Dr. John W. Ditzler, the VA's chief medical director, of the 87 employees in question, 15 are no longer employed by the VA; there were "no records whatsoever" for six, 17 were fee-basis physicians (private physicians reimbursed by the VA for treating eligible veterans), and 49 are currently working for the VA.

Ditzler told the subcommittee that initial screenings performed by the VA medical centers at which the individuals work have indicated that all "meet legal and regulatory requirements for employment."

Ditzler cited a case in which one of the "impairments" in question was simply an unfulfilled request for a duplicate license to replace one which had been water damaged.

He told the panel that he was unaware of any case in which a veteran might have received less than satisfactory treatment by any of the physicians identified in the screening.

"We assure you that where changes are required, we are making them," said Ditzler. "Where corrective action is necessary, it will be taken," he added.

Montgomery urged the VA to "strengthen its cooperation with the agencies that maintain comprehensive files on government and private physicians. It's a logical way to ensure quality and to screen out those who might choose to misrepresent themselves," he said.

"I believe that today's VA health care system is second to none," said Montgomery, "and I intend to do my best to see that it stays that way. Through the testimony presented, any confidence that might have been shaken by initial reports of these findings has been substantially restored."

The Veterans Administration says that the credentials of 38,000 additional physicians, all fee-basis, will be reviewed and verified.

EYE-LEVEL AUTO STOP LAMP—More and More cars on the highway this fall will include an additional safety feature—an eye-level rear brake light that will reduce the danger of rear-end collisions. Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Hanford Dole, showing an example of the new light, said, "We expect to cut the number of rear-end collisions significantly, eliminate some 40,000 injuries and save annually an estimated $434 million in property damages once all vehicles on the road are equipped with the third lamp." Cars manufactured since Sept. 1 are required to have the new rear stop lamp, which will supplement the two lower brake lights. The regulation required the third stop lamp to be mounted on the centerline of a vehicle, between the trunk and the top of the roof, either inside or outside the rear window.

WEST PEARL: The economic issues

EDITOR'S NOTE: The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is seeking comments on its proposal to resume maintenance dredging in the West Pearl River. This article represents the third in a series outlining the basis of the Corps decision. Other parts deal with the project history, the environmental issues, and the schedule for public review of the proposal.

VICKSBURG, MISS.—A return to year-round commercial river traffic on the West Pearl River Navigation Project would return $16 for every dollar spent on maintenance of the project.

Studies by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Vicksburg District, responsible for operation and maintenance of the project, have determined a base tonnage for the project estimated at 860,000 tons in 1986, rising to 1.5 million tons by 2004.

Annual benefits from transportation savings alone are estimated at $3.1 million.

In comparison, the Ouachita-Black Rivers Navigation Project, a 300-mile, 9-foot-deep waterway linking north Louisiana and southern Arkansas with four major locks, averages 925,000 tons of waterborne commerce annually, enough to justify its annual maintenance.

The West Pearl River Navigation Project, completed in 1956, uses a system of three locks and a 28-mile manmade channel to provide a seven-foot-deep, 100-foot-wide navigation channel from the mouth of the Pearl River to Bogalusa, La., approximately 58 miles.

After 20 years of use, commercial navigation declined to the extent that maintenance dredging was no longer economically justifiable and was dropped after 1973.

"The industrial interest in the lower Pearl now makes it feasible to perform minor maintenance dredging to remove sandbars. Our Planning Division people talked to a lot of industries in the area that would use the waterway if we can insure year-round navigation," said Michael Logue, public affairs officer for the Vicksburg District.

Vicksburg District and local interests met in Bogalusa in December 1983 to discuss resumption of maintenance dredging on the navigation project. Various industry representatives, city officials, and businessmen voiced interest in renewed navigation on the Pearl River.

Renewed maintenance would mean about 12 weeks of spot dredging initially at cost of $800,000 to return the project to full operation. Future dredging every two years would run $364,000, based on first cost figures and the remaining 19 years of the project's economic life, is $200,000.

"Fuel savings to industry alone bring the projected benefit/cost ratio for the project is 16 to one," Logue said. The Corps figures do not include increase in industry and jobs.

"A 16-to-one means that a lot of businesses have said they will use the waterway," Logue said. "The area economy is restricted by the lack of a waterborne outlet, the most economical means of shipping bulk material."

Local sources in other parts of the state have determined that barging reduces bulk fuel cost by as much as five cents a gallon over trucking.

"It's more than saving dollars for a firm. Savings can be used to expand, creating more jobs," Logue said. "Any way that a company can reduce costs produces a positive effect on the local economy."

Logue also noted that numerous business leaders and public officials have expressed an interest in locating on the lower Pearl if they can be guaranteed year-round navigation.

In order for the West Pearl River Navigation Project to achieve full potential and projected tonnages, local interests must develop the facilities necessary to handle commodities, goods, and raw materials.

The City of Bogalusa has applied to the Vicksburg District for necessary permits to construct a public terminal on the West Pearl River near Richardson's Landing. Action on the permit request has been withheld pending the outcome of a feasibility study on the waterway.

The Vicksburg District anticipates several permit applications by private interests related to extraction of minerals in the project area. These permit applications will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis after the applicant has obtained the necessary permits from the State of Louisiana.

"Our studies and the intense interest in the lower Pearl show the business is ready to take advantage of a project at full level of operation," Logue said.

For information on the project, call Michael Logue, public affairs chief for the Corps' Vicksburg District, at 634-5062 days or 636-4129 evenings.

Project Do members open 1985-1986 service year

The St. Stanislaus High School community service group Project Do, currently in its 11th year, opened its 1985-1986 program recently with visits to Hotel Reed Nursing Center and Main Street Methodist Child Development Center.

Project Do, conceived and organized by Brother Canisius Schell, SC, is composed of volunteers from SSC's junior and senior classes.

"It is a program through which its members give love and help to others," Brother Canisius stated.

"Our programs leave our members with rewarding and happy feelings in their hearts. Our slogan is 'It is in giving that we receive,'" he added.

Freedoms Foundation cites historian Stephen Ambrose

Dr. Stephen E. Ambrose, alumni distinguished professor of history at the University of New Orleans, and a Bay St. Louis resident, has been named recipient of the 1984 Framed

Dr. Stephen E. Ambrose

George Washington Honor Medal of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for his book, "Eisenhower: The President."

The medal, one of a number in the Freedoms Foundation's national awards program, is the principal award in the category of books.

"Eisenhower: The President," is the second of a two-volume biography of Dwight D. Eisenhower by Ambrose.

Covering the period from the transition between the Truman and Eisenhower administrations to Eisenhower's death in 1969, it concentrates on Eisenhower's presidential years, 1953-1961.

It was hailed in 1984 as "the best book to date on its subject" by "The

New York Times Book Review"

The first volume of the biography, "Eisenhower: Soldier, General of the Army, President-Elect, 1890-1952," was published in 1983 and also received excellent reviews.

Ambrose is the author of over a dozen books, including five on Eisenhower. He was associate editor of the first five volumes of "The Papers of Dwight D. Eisenhower: The War Years."

His other books on Ike are

"Eisenhower and Berlin, 1945," "The Supreme Commander: The War Years of General Dwight D. Eisenhower," and "Ike's Spies: Eisenhower and the Espionage Establishment."

Now in its 36th year, the national awards program of the Freedoms Foundation honors individuals and organizations "whose projects support the U.S. social, political and economic system...and contribute to responsible citizenship."

SSC senior named Merit semifinalist

Brother Celestine Algero, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, has announced that Jake Welsh, a senior at St. Stanislaus, has been named as a National Merit Semifinalist for the 1985-86 school session.

Merit semifinalists are among the highest scorers in each state on the 1985 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) which was administered to over one million students throughout the United States.

The semifinalists represent the top one-half of one percent of those taking the test on a nationwide basis; and they become eligible to be named as National Merit Finalists. These finalists will be announced in April, 1986.

Welsh, the son of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Welsh Jr. of Bay St. Louis, is presently in his sixth year at St. Stanislaus.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, the French Honor Society, the yearbook staff, the school barbershop chorus group, and the math and science team.

He has been a class officer in his sophomore, junior and senior years; and he participated in Project Do, a school service organization.

He competes in intramural football and soccer, and he is a member of the varsity baseball team. He scored in the top 10 percent in the state in biology at the Math and Science Tournament in Clinton, and he participated in the Xavier University Math and Science Olympiad during his junior year.

Welsh would like to pursue a career as an aeronautical engineer.

Honors forum scheduled

The University of Southern Mississippi Honors Forum series for fall 1985 will feature eight lectures by USM professors ranging in subject matter from the enigmatic King Arthur to the mysteries of the brain. The eight faculty members and their topics were chosen by an ad hoc committee chaired by Dr. Graen Rayborn from campus-wide applications.

According to Dr. Peggy Prashaw, Honors College Dean, the fall series will be a part of the univerty's 75th Anniversary celebrations. "As a part of our anniversary festivities, we want to feature the work and talents of our faculty who, through their academic excellence, have brought distinction to USM," she said.

Lung association seeking essays on 'Smoking Or Health'

"Smoking or Health" is the subject of the 9th annual essay contest sponsored by the Mississippi Lung Association.

Mary Jane Green of Grenada, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization, said, announcements outlining rules and regulations have been sent to all Mississippi schools.

Any regularly enrolled eighth or tenth grade student is eligible to participate.

Eighth and tenth grade teachers are asked to select two essays in local classrooms as preliminary winners and send them to the Mississippi Lung Association in Jackson for state-wide judging.

Deadline for entry is Monday, Nov. 18.

All entries will be judged as to content, accuracy of statements, originality and effectiveness. Winners will be announced in early December.

Twelve prizes will be awarded. First, second and third place winners will be chosen in each of the following categories. Eighth grade girls, eighth grade boys, tenth grade girls and tenth grade boys. Prizes will be first place, $25, second place, $15 and third place, $10.

Additionally, all four first place winners will be invited to come to Jackson in mid-December to tape television program "Access" with Jack Schweitzer, host. The television program featuring the four top essay winners will be aired in January, 1986 on the Mississippi Educational Television Network during National Education Week on Smoking and Health.

The Mississippi Lung Association will furnish resource material, free of charge, upon request.

Mrs. Green said that requests for educational pamphlets, films and posters on smoking and its subsequent health hazards are increasing and that material on all lung related subjects is available year-round from the association.

For further information on the essay project or to request material, contact the Mississippi Lung Association, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, Ms 39206 or phone 362-5453.

N.O. Area Council plans largest Scout campout

"Pride in the Past—Footsteps to the Future" is the theme for a Diamondhead Jubilee Camporee to be sponsored by the New Orleans Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America Friday, Saturday and Sunday at City Park in New Orleans.

Thousands of Boy Scouts from the five-parish and Hancock County will converge on the area near Scout Island on Friday for the opening ceremonies at 6 p.m.

Former Lt. Governor Jimmy Fitzmorris will head a group of city, area and state dignitaries who will watch as the Scouts conduct their formal opening of the three-day event.

A campfire will follow at 9 p.m.

Saturday, the Scouts will have an opportunity to show their skills in challenging Scoutcraft patrol events.

These include creating fire by flint and steel, knot tying, first aid, compass, nature, hot isotope, pioneer lashing and string burning. Also on the agenda will be log walking and physical fitness.

Expected to be the largest Scout campout ever held by the New Orleans Area Council, the event will conclude Sunday with religious services set for 9 a.m. and the closing assembly at 11:15 a.m.

All phases of the camporee are free and open to the public.

"STATE TROOPER OF THE YEAR" Curtis L. Newman, discusses street and highway safety with Diamondhead Scouts Ross Bonura and Kevin Bourg.

USM to feature dance troupe

A modern dance company that has performed works on a national and international scale will be featured at the University of Southern Mississippi Oct. 18 at 8 p.m. in the USM Performing Arts Center.

The Ririe-Woodbury Dance Company, a professional modern dance foundation since 1969, emphasizes a varied repertory with theatrical staging, mixed media and humor.

The company's USM performance is sponsored by the USM Department of Theatre and Dance and the University Activities Council, a student-run organization that primarily provides campus entertainment.

The company based in Salt Lake City, Utah, is composed of six dancers, two artistic directors one technical director and three administrators.

The company's artistic philosophies include: exposing and educating audiences in schools, universities and communities; to teach master classes and workshops; to create and commission new works; to explore and present the relationship that exists between dance and all other art forms; and to provide training, performance and scholarship opportunities for student and professional dancers.

During the 1975-76 season, the company provided more than one-third of all program-sponsored dance residencies across the country and became known as the "most traveled dance company in the United States."

In 1977, the company participated in the 8th Congress of International Association of Physical Education and Sports held in Capetown, South Africa, and in 1978 represented the United States as the only American dance company to perform at the 20th Jubilee Children's Festival in Sibenik, Yugoslavia.

Tickets for the USM performance are $4 for general admission and $2 for students.

For tickets or information, contact Victor Bailey, UAC variety chairperson, in Room 235 of the USM University Union, or telephone 286-5622 or 286-4404 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

State PTA names Jerry Clower honorary membership chairman

Mississippi humorist Jerry Clower has been carrying his audiences into the school classroom for years with his homespun stories of growing up Southern style.

While the "Mouth of the Mississippi" may be known best for his humorous stories, he is serious and sensitive about the importance of education to the people of Mississippi. "First and foremost, I'm a loyal, died-in-the-wool Mississippian, with a total commitment to public education in our state."

As the new 1985-86 Mississippi PTA honorary membership chairman, Clower is outspoken about the link between good schools and parent involvement. "My children were raised in our states' school system and both my wife Homerline and I were active PTA members."

Two of Jerry's children have grown up to become teachers in Gulfport and Clinton.

Education always has been a priority in Clower's life. He never missed a single day of school from the first through the 12th grades.

"I made straight A's in subjects involving reading and remembering, subjects like history and civics," he said.

At the drop of a quotation, Clower can launch into a biography of Shakespeare and give dates, places and plays. He can remember exactly how that page looked in his literature book.

This unique ability to remember is what has brought to mind in living local color the famous coon hunt tales and classroom antics of Clower's boyhood days with his friend Marcel Ledbetter.

After high school and military experience in the U.S. Navy, Clower attended Southwest Mississippi Junior College and then Mississippi State University. With a bachelor's degree in agriculture, he went to work as an assistant county agent in Lafayette County.

Clower later became a fertilizer salesman for Mississippi Chemical Corporation and rose to the position of director of Field Services.

Clower was a salesman who loved to tell stories. When his friends urged him to cut a record, MCA Records signed him to a contract and he has become one of the nation's most successful humorists.

In addition to cutting one album a year for the last 16 years, Clower appears on the Grand Ole Opry, does TV commercials, has authored two books, and makes 200 personal appearances a year. For nine consecutive years he was named "Country Comic of the Year" by the major country music trade and fan publications.

Clower says show business hasn't changed him much, although he has had to add a room onto his home to display the memorabilia of a successful career.

"It (the home) disappoints some folks," he says. "My title is more to my church, and I drive a bigger car, but my basic values are the same."

Clower is a deacon in the First Baptist Church of Yazoo City and an active Gideon who responds to many requests as a lay preacher. He likes to make people smile and says it's against his religion to be depressed.

"It would be against my Christian faith if I get depressed to the extent it affected the people around me," he said. "That's a sin—to claim to have God to lean on and then don't."

The fact that he has retained his basic values may explain why Clower considers himself "the luckiest guy in the world." These are the values reflected in the stories he tells, values that hold education, religion and family life at the top of the list.

Catfish cooking contest scheduled

Now is the time to submit your recipes for the 12th annual National Farm Raised Catfish Cooking Contest. The Catfish Farmers of America sponsor the contest each year in search of new, appealing recipe ideas for farm raised catfish.

Recipes may be submitted for any category so long as farm raised catfish is the main ingredient. Recipes must be submitted by Feb. 14.

The five finalists selected will be notified in mid April. These finalists will receive an all expense paid trip to Jackson to participate in the cook-off on June 6. First prize is $2,000.

As farm raised catfish continues to increase in popularity many are discovering the versatility of this grain-fed fish. Whether baked, poached, broiled, smoked, in appetizers, soups, salads, or main courses - farm raised catfish provides an excellent low calorie, high protein option for today's meals.

For a free copy of 1985 winning recipes along with entry form and information, on the 1986 contest, write Winning Recipes, P.O. Box 34, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

State fair to run 12 days

The 1965 Mississippi State Fair will open an expanded 12 day run at the state fairgrounds complex in Jackson, Wednesday, October 2.

"It is significant that the 126th edition of the State Fair will run 12 rather than 10 days," said Agriculture and Commerce Commissioner Jim Buck Ross and Chairman of the Mississippi State Fair Commission, which sponsors the event.

Ross said officials decided to increase the length of the fair because "there was just too much to put into 10 days."

"I want to urge every Mississippian to visit this year's fair. It's full of activities for the whole family. There's never been a fair like it!"

"There'll not only be plenty of old favorites at this year's fair, but new events as well," said Billy Orr, manager of the State Fairgrounds Complex.

Orr said, "The Mississippi State Fair continues to be one of the oldest, most continuous running fairs in the United States. That's a tradition to be proud of."

"Once again, we have some of the finest animals to be found anywhere. It's worth a trip to the fairgrounds to watch youngsters displaying their animals during youth judging events," said Tommy Strickland, fairground's complex livestock manager.

This year's fair will open at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 2 and continue through Sunday, October 13.

Fairgoers can see some top entertainers free in the State Fair Theatre, the tent on the midway behind the Coliseum. Headliners include Boxcar Willie on Wednesday, October 2; Eddy Raven, Thursday, October 3; The Whites, Sunday, October 6; Bill Anderson and the PoPoLks, Monday, October 7; Jerry Jeff Walker on Tuesday, October 8; Moe Bandy and the Wrangler Regional Showdown, featuring championship talent, Wednesday, October 9; the Atlanta Rhythm Section, Thursday, October 10 and Mark Gray/Kelly Lang, Friday, October 11.

With the exception of the Whites and Moe Bandy/Wrangler Showdown, shows are at 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. The Whites perform at 2:00 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. The Wrangler Regional Showdown is at 7:00 p.m.

In addition to free entertainment, this year's fair includes several paid admission shows in the Coliseum. By purchasing advance tickets to the shows, fairgoers will get free admission to the fairgrounds.

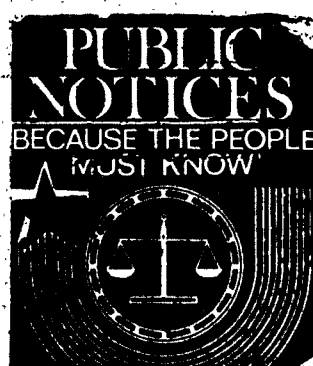

Coliseum shows, which require tickets, are the Rick James Show at 7:30 p.m., Friday, October 4; Statler Brothers and Helen Cornelius in Concert at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, October 5 and the Army Grand Concert at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, October 10. The Power Pull '65 Truck and Tractor Pull Spectacular will have three shows at the Coliseum, Friday, October 11 at 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, October 12 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, October 13 at 2:30 p.m.

All advance tickets for Coliseum shows include free gate admission.

Gate admission to the fair is $2.00 per person, 12 or older from 12:00 noon until closing. Children ages 6 through 11, $1.00 and children under 5 are admitted free.

Advance gate admission tickets can be purchased at the Coliseum Box Office until Tuesday, October 1. For example, five advance tickets, a $10.00 value can be purchased for $8.00, ages 12 and over. Five advance tickets, ages 6 through 11, a $5.00 value, can be purchased for $3.00.

Additional free talent in the Mississippi State Fair Theatre will be Nightshift, October 4; Leather and Lace, October 4; Don Poythress, October 5; The Lee King Show, October 5; the Greer Brothers, October 6 and Christy Rose and Mississippi's Renegade Band will play on Sunday, October 13.
